Call for Papers and Special Sessions

Established in 1987, Pacific Rim Conference is the premier IEEE biennial event in the Pacific Northwest. It is our pleasure to invite you to participate in this event by submitting a paper or organizing a special session. All accepted papers will appear in IEEE Xplore.

The scope of PACRIM'09 encompasses but is not limited to:

Communications:
- Mobile and Personal Communications
- Coding, Modulation and Spread Spectrum
- OFDM, Multicarrier and MIMO Systems
- Security and Cryptography
- Cooperative and Collaborative Systems
- Cognitive Radio
- Future Network Architecture
- Network Virtualization Techniques
- Network Testbeds

Computers:
- Computer Architecture
- Parallel and Distributed Computing
- Grid and Cloud Computing
- Web Applications and Mining
- Multimedia and Network Processors
- Database and Knowledge Based Systems
- Embedded, Reconfigurable, and Power-Aware Systems
- Cyber Security and Privacy
- Neural Networks and Genetic Algorithms

Signal Processing:
- Signal Processing Theory and Methods
- Medical and Biological Image and Signal Processing
- Video and Image Processing
- Wavelets and Filter Banks
- Adaptive Filters and Algorithms
- Speech and Audio Processing
- Underwater Platforms and Sensors
- Multimedia Signal Processing
- Array Signal Processing
- Sparse Signal Processing

Important Deadlines
Submission Extended:	April 20, 2009
Acceptance Notification:	May 15, 2009
Camera Ready Version:	June 15, 2009
Registration by:	June 15, 2009
